Zoning Advocates Suffer Setback

In one of the most hotly contested elections ever held in this state, involving the election of three members of the city board of trustees and the adoption or rejection of the zoning ordinance, the forces of zoning came out with only one grain of comfort. They elected one member of the board of trustees.

The anti-zoners, or, to put it more accurately, those opposed to Ordinance No. 55, adopted by the board of trustees, on the recommendation of the city planning commission, won by two votes in a total of 483 counted.

There were 488 ballots cast, but five ballots were not counted because of irregularities in marking. On four of these five rejected votes a cross was stamped opposite "No," so the zoning proposition was really lost by six votes.

In the contest for trustees for the four-year term, Henry P. Larouette, anti-zoner, was high man with 195 votes; then came John B. Dennis, pro-zoner, with 183 votes.

For the two-year term there were two candidates, Charles O. Gould and Ray C. DeYoe. The former, anti-zoner, won 260 to 205.

For city clerk, Miss Saidee Van Brower, 384 votes, and for treasurer, L. S. Slevin, 390 votes. They had no opposition.

Friends of the defeated candidates have come forth with various alibis. "If John Doe hadn't been a candidate, Tom Jones would have been elected." "If the ordinance had taken better cognizance of the 25-foot lots, Bill Jones would have defeated Jim Johnson," and "If that article had not been published in the Monterey Herald by Richard Roe, Skeezix would have won hands down."

A tabulation of the vote cast is as follows:

Referendum on Zoning
To Sustain	231
To Reject	233
Trustee (Long Term)
Larouette	195
Dennis	183
Jordan	174
Dorwart	173
Gillett	107
Yates	66
Trustee (Short Term)
Gould	260
DeYoe	205

Clubhouse Drive Successful

The clubhouse for the training camp at Del Monte polo field is assured.

Before sundown of the day set (last Saturday) for raising the sum needed, the full $18,000 and more was subscribed.

Carmel did its share toward raising the necessary fund, among the large subscribers were John B. Jordan, Ray C. DeYoe and J. F. Devendorf.

Local Artists Enjoying Paris

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Botke are still in Paris. They are having a profitable and interesting sojourn. Recently the following letter from them was received here by Johan Hagemeyer:

"I just learned from the Pine Cone of the opening of your studio. Congratulations. I wish for success."

Your idea of one-man shows is a splendid one, and I note that you are off on a good start. We are nicely settled in our Paris studio. Mrs. Botke has made a number of bird compositions and I have etchings of Brittany—a number of pencil and oil sketches to be used later. Mrs. Botke is taking up wood block printing and I expect that she will do some very fine things in that line. We are enthusiastic students, going to the sketch classes for nude life and taking in the exhibition. That is the one joy of Paris—one is never too old or too settled to study. Then there are the fascinating antique shops.

"I have seen several fine exhibitions of etchings. One by Heinzelman of San Francisco, and just recently a very interesting one by your friend Winkler, and this one was by far the best I have seen. He certainly is a great etcher. His technique is astonishing. It seems to me that he has improved a great deal during his two years in Paris. Some of his prints remind me of Whistler. I should like to meet him but he lives somewhere in the country. I suppose I will have to wait until we are back in California."

"We have only been in Holland for a short visit, spending most of our time in museums."

"Our Billy goes to a boarding school for American boys. He comes home to us every week-end and that is an altogether satisfactory arrangement. He has lots of boys to play with. The school is in the country, so he gets the fresh air and this is something essential for a California kid."

"I expect to go to Holland early in May and stay for quite a while, so that I will get some work done."

Forget About Zoning Think of the Follies

It does not matter whether you were on the winning or on the losing side of our recent zoning election.

More weighty matters should engross your attention now.

Do you realize that at this time next week, and the night before, the Carmel Follies will be presented at our Arts and Crafts Theatre?

Do you know that seats in the bald-head row for this performance are selling at a premium? That Frank Devendorf and Doc McCollom have rounded up all the hairless old boys to take in the beauty chorus?

Realize, if you can, that John McGraw Van Riper and David Belasco Cyril, in arranging this show, have matched themselves against Flo Ziegfeld in putting on an up-to-the-minute show.

Can you afford to miss this thing? No! Go right up to Tom Bickle and have him fit you to a couple of seats.

Ware the Traffic Officer

Motor vehicle regulations other than the speed limit are being violated in Monterey, Pacific Grove and Carmel.

Notice has been taken by traffic officers that a large number of touring cars converted to commercial purposes are operating on a touring license.

These violators are in for a shock if the proper authority to operate is not secured at once.

Action Regarding Cattle Infection

In re the foot and mouth disease, the following letter has been forwarded by Peter Maudsley:

Carmel, Calif.
April 15, 1924.

The Secretary
State Citizens' Committee,
California.

Care of State Department of Agriculture,
Sacramento, Calif.

Dear Sir:

Foot and Mouth Disease

Your letters addressed to the Carmel Chamber of Commerce have been delivered to me, as late secretary of the chamber, which is no longer in existence.

The subject matter however (being of such great import), has been taken into careful consideration, and, whilst we fully concur in the general necessity for energetic action such as your state-wide Citizens' Committee is pursuing, we have not, thus far, deemed it necessary to appoint a committee for Carmel, for the following reasons:

(1) Carmel is located only four miles from Monterey, where a committee is in operation.

(2) Carmel is so located that all travelers to Carmel from the outside must pass through Monterey.

(3) All movement of the public around Carmel is being vigorously controlled by the several ranch owners themselves who have taken very energetic steps to prevent the spread of the disease by:

(a) Placing guards, engaged specially for the purpose, at all necessary points.

(b) Placarding and publishing warning notices.

(c) Forbidding and preventing trespassing, hiking, camping, fishing, etc.

(d) Shooting dogs straying on to their lands.

Under existing conditions, therefore, it does not appear that a local committee could do anything more than is already being done, particularly as the chief means for disseminating daily information—the Monterey newspaper—is already doing this.

Very truly yours,
PETER MAUDSLEY.

Birthday of Old Resident

Three score and ten plus one is the age recently reached by our worthy citizen, Dr. Preston W. Search, and in celebration of the event the relatives and friends of the eminent educator arranged a charming affair. It was taken in hand by Mrs. Search's sisters, Mrs. W. C. Butcher, Mrs. O. J. Taylor and Mrs. Anna Porter. The home was beautifully decorated, there were gifts and telegrams of congratulation for Mr. Search, and for the guests music and refreshments.

Among those present were the following: J. F. Devendorf, John H. McKee, J. W. Hand, William C. Watts, Paul C. Prince, William P. Silva, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McCollom, Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell, C. Sumner Greene, Frederick Preston Search, John N. Hilliard, Mrs. J. B. McChesney, Miss Alice McChesney, Miss A. C. Edmonds, Miss Eva B. Adams, Miss Emaline Harrington, Miss Frances Farrington.

Ida Mansfield-Wilson will give a series of informal talks on "The Study of Man; his relation to His Body; to the Universe, and to God." Every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Mansfield-Wilson cottage, on Dolores, between Eighth and Ninth. Subject for tomorrow, Easter Sunday: "The Resurrection of the Body." Public are cordially invited. Free will offering.

Night of Poetry Charming Event

By Susan Porter

After the feverish excitement of election day, Arts and Crafts offered to its members the utter refreshment of an evening of poetry and the contemplation of a beauty which is eternal.

A full hall greeted the speakers of the evening, introduced with characteristic felicity by Dr. A. E. Burton. Jessie B. Rittenhouse (Mrs. Clinton Scollard), well-known both as poet and critic of poetry, declared herself a conservative and gave a sympathetic as well as sane, keen and humorous talk on modern poetry.

With vivid personal sketches of Amy Lowell, Edna St. Vincent Millay and Robert Frost, reading from their works with fine appreciation, some of her swift phrases will remain in the minds of her hearers, helping them to clarify their own feelings toward the new poetry.—"Modern poets have at last made poetry the concern of the man in the street."

With special pleasure we will remember her warm praise of the work of our own Jeanne D'Orge (Mrs. A. E. Burton), whom she had met and heard at a meeting of the Poetry Society in New York.

As Mrs. Scollard was reading, all too briefly, from her own delicately-wrought verses, the lights suddenly went out for a few moments. But this, which might at any other time have proved disconcerting, gave only an added charm to the occasion, for the warm human voice of the unseen poet came unfalteringly through fire-lit darkness with even more poignant appeal.

Mr. Scollard came after his fellow-poet, reading a group of his own lovely lyrics, ranging in setting from the hills of Lebanon to the hills of Monterey. He proved himself anew a true lover and servant of the beauty of this world.

The program ended only too soon for the audience, whose responsiveness and sympathy, by the way, were praised by both poets. Good old-fashioned refreshments—coffee and doughnuts—served by Mrs. J. B. Adams and Mrs. Fenton P. Foster, rounded out the last club meeting of the spring program and a truly pleasant event.

In the Air and Beyond

A much interested audience was on hand at Arts and Crafts on Wednesday of last week to hear James H. Worthington, local scientist and astronomer, state facts and figures concerning the transit of Mercury across the sun, which is to occur at 1:44 p. m. on May 7. All afternoon on that day the planet will be visible.

The earth crosses the plane of Mercury's orbit twice annually, in May and November. When Mercury happens to be at the crossing place at the same time a transit is visible.

Mr. Worthington thoroughly knows his subject, and with his up-to-date instruments will no doubt obtain some remarkable photographs.

Interesting visitors in Carmel last week were Miss Carol Tyson and Miss Grace Boyle, both of Seattle. These two young ladies are interesting because they motored from Seattle to Pasadena alone—no men needed! They were guests of the Arnotts and will stop here for a while on their return from the south.

CITY ZONING

The people of this city who are in favor of zoning restrictions need not feel discouraged by the outcome of last Monday's election.

The defeat of Ordinance No. 55 is not a defeat for the principle of zoning. The objection was to the kind of ordinance offered.

Not one of the candidates for trustee was on record against zoning on principle, and it is probable that one of the first matters to be taken up by the new board will be the drafting of a satisfactory zoning ordinance. As one man puts it, "Let us get a suit that fits; we don't want to buy a suit first and fit it afterwards."

HAVE A CARE IN THE FOREST

Persistent efforts have been made for many years to impress upon the general public the importance of fire prevention, and it is hoped that something has been gained. The records show, however, that forest fires are costing us millions of dollars a year and are depleting the forests which have already been denuded quite to the danger point.

"We hear a good deal about 'forest planting' as an enterprise undertaken by the Federal government. It is very desirable, as far as it goes, but it helps only a very little. About 36,000 acres are planted annually with trees in the national forests, but all the forest lands owned by the government, even under intensive management, could produce not more than one-fifth of the timber we require.

"One modern-sized forest fire will easily wipe out more acres of timber than we plant annually, and, on an average, we have in this country 33,500 forest fires every year. Such fires are the greatest cause of forest destruction."

Prosecute and fine a few careless people who cause forest fires and it would have a wholesome effect on those who use our forests.

Monterey Newspaper Publishes Retraction

It has been established that Robert H. Durice of Carmel authorized publication of the anonymous advertisement, signed "The Committee of Five," which appeared in the Peninsula Herald of Saturday, April 12th.

On Tuesday, April 15, the Herald published "A Regret," a reprint of which follows: GEORGE M. DORWART

"The election in Carmel is over. Without intent to influence the thought of any voters for or against candidates, the Herald believes the publication of an advertisement in these columns last Saturday—the last day of publication prior to the election—did have some influence, owing to the categorical statements therein made against certain candidates and citizens, and particularly against George M. Dorwart, which could not be defended publicly before the polls were opened and closed.

"The Herald takes this opportunity frankly and without request from the parties affected, to state its regret that the advertisement was accepted for these columns. Having obtained, also, the city attorney of Carmel a copy of his report on the investigation he made of the action of a former city board of trustees in transferring the alley between San Antonio street and the Scenic Drive and taking another piece of property in lieu thereof, the Herald has discovered that the allegations in the advertisement were unfounded on fact and were unfair in every particular to the former board and especially to George M. Dorwart. The deeds to the transfers are on record at Salinas. The statements in the advertisement may have had and probably did have some influence on the election.

"It is regrettable that any advertisement containing probable misstatements of facts and detrimental to the interests of any candidates as well as injurious to their standing and that of their associates, should have been published. For the Herald's part in unwittingly accepting this advertisement, it takes this occasion to publicly express its regret and apology to the parties affected and to the former board of trustees that took the action related.

"It is with pleasure that the Herald has learned that the candidates favored in this advertisement, and one of whom was elected, have stated that they were ignorant of its contents before it was published and were not parties to its printing or its publication."

Post Election News

"If seven maids with seven mops
Swept it for half a year.
Do you suppose," the Walrus said,
"That they could zone us here."
"I doubt it," said the Carpenter—
And shed a mocking tear.

L. S. Slevin is grateful for the splendid vote given his candidacy for city treasurer. There was one vote against him. Slevin says that if Schweninger wishes to contest the election he should worry.

Former Trustee George M. Dorwart is hot on the trail of the author of the communication published in last Saturday's Monterey paper. Isn't it strange that said communication was not offered to the Pine Cone for publication? What a chance!

Some one remarked that William T. Kibbler and Helen W. Parkes were still on the board of trustees. "Oh, they're hang-overs," said another.

The present board of trustees will meet next Monday night to pass to print the amended ordinance to increase the treasurer's salary and to canvas the returns and seat the three new members.

Interest is now centered on the re-organization of the board of trustees. Who will be the mayor to take Trustee W. T. Kibbler's place, or will he be re-elected?

Paul C. Prince was too ill to serve as an election officer, so F. O. Robbins was made inspector in his place.

Between votes, music was supplied to the election officers by Bert Heron. These were organ selections, guitar numbers and just plain chin music.

Someone remarked that the result of the zoning election meant the end of Art here. "Now it'll be Art Hickman," wailed another.

Dog-Killer Abroad

Teddy Gould—children's friend, hero of many a battle, old character of Carmel's Main Street—is dead.

The dog-poisoner has been at work again. Poor old Teddy, unsuspecting, thinking everybody his friend, ate of ground glass; and now when Brownie Overstreet returns healed of his ailments, eager for the fray, their will be no husky Teddy to meet him.

No more adequate punishment for Teddy's murderer than a coat of tar-and-feathers comes to mind.

Our sympathies are with the bereaved family.

Humane Week Well Established

Humane Week was observed generally on the peninsula and the response of the public was very gratifying to those who wish to carry the humane ideas into public consciousness.

School children in Carmel and Monterey made posters which were exhibited. Mrs. Louise Dobbins, president of the humane society, spoke to the pupils of the Grove and Monterey school, and Miss Eunice Gray to the local school pupils.

Moir Wallace won the first prize for the most artistic and original poster; Anne Greene won second prize, and Ruth Tyler the third. The fourth prize was awarded to Charles Vink, second grade, the youngest competitor. His poster was especially marked, in that the little man had no art training. Ross Burton and others won honorable mention.

A large number of new members have been added to the roll and there have been many contributions.

Next Friday evening the society will give an evening of cards at Pine Inn, the proceeds to be applied to humane work.

Early in May a complete list of contributors will be published.

The Potboiler Has Theater Auxiliary

The Potboiler Art centre has created, with the greatest success, a little theatre in Los Angeles under Sigurd Russell. The first production was "Beyond the Horizon," by Eugene O'Neill. On May 6, 7, 13, and 14, they will produce "Uncle Vanya," by Tchekoff. In the new home after May 1st, a theatre is to be equipped with an interesting new device which consists of a stage which will pull up like a knife bridge in order to give more hall room for meetings, balls, etc.

The Potboiler, besides its newspaper and theatre work, sells paintings without charging commission, (Carmelites are eligible); and also conducts a free employment agency for artists. Russell hopes that playwrights of Carmel will send in original one act plays, as he produces them every Sunday evening. All the work of the Potboiler is a labor of love and Sigurd Russell, who purchased a lot in Carmel last summer is a school teacher by avocation, or perhaps profession.

Tremendous Sale of Ford Products

Retail deliveries of Ford cars and trucks in the United States during the month of March reached the record-breaking total of 205,735, it was announced by the Ford Motor Company here today.

Nothing in the history of the automobile industry compares with this remarkable record.

A significant feature developed during the last ten days of the month when sales averaged 10,804 cars and trucks a day, indicating that the spring buying rush has begun and that under this enormous demand production of the company will be taxed to the limit in an endeavor to meet the heavy flood of orders.

Screen Director Sojourning Here

Donald Willis Lee, head of the Fox scenario department, is in Carmel for a two weeks' vacation, with his wife and two children. He expects to drive to Santa Cruz to witness the filming of his new picture—"The Last Man"—some scenes of which are being taken over there in the red woods.

Later he will go to Sacramento to see the Fox special production of Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country," which his brother, Rowland Lee, is directing, and which is the adaptation of another brother.

The Lee brothers are nephews of Mrs. Gertrude Nelson Andrews, at present living in this city. She has just returned from Hollywood, where she contracted to do another series of stories.

Grateful Winner

who supported by candidacy for trustee at the election on April 14, I extend my sincere thanks. I will endeavor to convince you that your confidence was not misplaced.
